RECONSTRUCTION CASE.

Georgia Injunction in the Supreme Court.

Case Dismissed for Want of Jurisdiction.

Opinion of the Court.

WASHINGTON, February 10.

In the Supreme Court, to-day, Associate Justice Nelson announced the opinion in the case of the State of Georgia against Hon. E. M. Stanton, Secretary of War, General Grant and General Pope. The first named, at the time the bill was filed, was commanding the Third Military District, composed of Georgia, Florida and Alabama, designated by the act of Congress, approved March 2, 1867, entitled "An Act to provide for the more efficient government of the rebel States," and the act supplemental thereto, passed on the 23d of the same month. The bill filed by the State of Georgia prayed for an injunction for the purpose of restraining defendants from carrying into effect the several provisions of these acts, and set forth the existence of Georgia as one of the States of the Union; and further, that on the surrender of the Confederate army, in 1865, at the close of the civil war, that State was in possession and enjoyment of all the rights belonging to a State of the Union under the Constitution and laws of the United States, and as such was entitled to representation in both Houses of Congress. The bill further sets forth that the intention and designs of these acts of Congress were apparent on their face and by their terms, viz: The overthrow of the existence of State goverment and the erection in its place of another not authorized by the Constitution; and that, in furtherance of this intent, the Secretary of War, General Grant and Major General Pope, acting under orders from the President, were about setting in motion a portion of these statutes to take military possession and subvert the Government of Georgia, thereby subjecting the people thereof to military rule. That the State was wholly inadequate to resist the power of the several departments, and therefore insisted protection ought to be afforded by a decree of the Supreme Court in the premises.

The bill next prayed—1st, That the defendants might be restrained from issuing any order ordering any act or thing within the State of Georgia, injurious of the State, which might be required of them by act of Congress; 2d, To cause the defendants to delay the registration in Georgia, as prescribed in the last named act; 3d, To restrain them from administering or causing to be administered the oath provided for in that act; 4th, To prevent an election or returns in such election from being received according to the acts in question; and 5th, From holding or causing to be held any Convention, as prescribed therein.

Associate Justice Nelson having set forth these premises, but at greater length than above given, said in substance, that a motion had been made by counsel for defendants to dismiss the case for want of jurisdiction; and as one without precedent, it was claimed the Court had no jurisdiction in the case either of the subject in this bill, or over the parties presented. The first ground was supported by the argument that it was a political and not a judicial question; therefore, it was not a subject of cognisance by this court. The distinction between judicial and political questions resulted from the organization of the Government as executive, legislative and judicial, and from the limitation of the powers of each under the Constitution. The judicial power was vested in the Judicial Department, and the political power in the two other departments. The distinction between judicial and political power was so generally admitted, that the Court deemed it unnecessary to dwell upon it more than to reflect in some of the authorities on the subject. Among them the case of Rhode Island against the State of Massachusetts. It had been supposed that this case afforded authority for hearing and deciding on a question connected with a bill in equity. But on a close examination, this would be found a mistake. There was a question of boundary between these two States, and not one of a political character. In the case of Florida against Georgia, the United States was allowed to intervene, being the proprietor of a large portion of the lands situated within the disputed boundary, ceded to the United States by Spain, the State of Florida also being interested as a proprietor. The case bearing most directly on this one is that of the Cherokee Nation against the State of Georgia. A bill was filed in this case on an injunction prayed for to prevent the execution of certain acts of Georgia against the Cherokee Nation. The latter claimed the right to appear in Court as a foreign nation. The acts of the Legislature, if carried into execution, would have destroyed the tribal condition of the Cherokees, and subjected them to the authority of the State. It was therefore decided that the Cherokees were not a foreign nation, in the sense referred to in the Constitution of the United States. Chief Justice Marshall said the bill was untenable on another ground, namely: It involved a political question. Justice Nelson referred to several high authorities in support of the above views and showed that political power did not belong to the Judiciary, and that the Constitution could have no right to pronounce merely on an abstract opinion of the Constitution or of State laws. It might, however, decide on all statutes lawfully falling under judicial authority. By second section of the third article of the Constitution of the United States, it is provided that the judicial power shall extend to all cases in law and equity arising under this Constitution, the laws of the United States and the treaties made or which shall be made under their authority; to all affecting ambassadors, other public ministers and consuls; to all cases of admiralty, maritime jurisdiction, to controversies to which the United States shall be a party; to controversies between two or more States; between a state and a citizen of another state; between citizens of different states; between citizens of the same state, claiming lands under grants of different states, and between a state or the citizens thereof and foreign states, citizens or subjects. The bill filed by the State of Georgia prays for an injunction to restrain defendants from executing certain parts of the acts of Congress, being apprehensive that injury to the State would thereby result. But, according to law and precedent, in order to entitle the parties to relief, a case must be properly presented for the exercise of judicial power, and the case must refer to the rights of persons and property, and not to political quest ons merely, which do not belong to the judiciary, either in law or equity. In view of the principles which, under the Constitution and statutes, the Court had endeavored to explain, the question was whether the Court could take cognizance of the question now before it. The Court was called on to restrain the defendants, who represented the Executive Department, from putting into execution certain acts of Congress which, it was claimed, would overthrow the existing State Government of Georgia and establish a different one in its stead—in other words, destroy the corporate existence of the State. Such is the substance of the bill. It called for the judgment of the Court on a political question, and no one involving persons and property. No question of person or property or threatened danger to them was presented in the bill in a form justifying judicial action by the Court. It was true the bill set forth political rights, as in danger, and among other things that Georgia owned certain property, the State capitol, executive mansion and other real and personal property, and that putting those acts of Congress into execution, the State would be deprived of the possession of such property. But it was apparent that reference was only incidental and specific matter of remedy. The relief asked would not be a bill different from the one now before the Court.

Having for the reasons stated arrived at a conclusion, it was u... ...nt to examine the question of jurisdiction in connection with the defendant. The Court dismissed the bill for want of jurisdiction.

This decision, the Judge remarked, also disposed of the case of the State of Mississippi against Secretary Stanton, General Grant and Major General Ord, involving a similar question.

Chief Justice Chase said he did not concur in all the reasons, but assented to the conclusion, believing the Court had no jurisdiction in the case.

ARKANSAS ITEMS.

Captain Tom Berry, of the Guidon, fell into the hold of that boat, near Richland, on her last trip, and fractured his collar bone.

The Helena Shield has finally gone over to the Radical negro suffrage, amalgamation party.

Major J. H. Sparks, editor of the Pine Bluff Dispatch, is improving and getting along as well as the painful nature of his wounds will permit.

Jas. T. Elliott has declined the Radical nomination for Supreme Judge. His ancient instincts got the better of him, and his sense of decency and propriety would not allow him to accept a reward so publicly.

The Jacksonport Herald of the 27th of January says: "The posts and wires are within ten miles of Jacksonport. We understand that Jacksonport is to be the terminus of the line for the present, instead of Batesville."

The Pocahontas Standard says: A youth of our county not long since married, decided to separate from his young wife, and notified the public by posters at public places, that "he and his wife had dissolved copartnership," and consequently he would not be responsible for her contracts.

The Pine Bluff Dispatch of the 25th ultimo, says a recent order from General Ord removed Hon. D. W. Carroll, Probate Judge, and appointed General H. B. Morse in his stead. Judge Carroll was arrested some time ago, because he refused, without warrant of law, in imitation of the Radical party, to order fed at the county's expense all the lazy negro paupers who presented themselves.

The Searcy Record of the 1st instant says: A lot of leaf tobacco from Searcy county was sold in this place on Saturday of last week at fifteen cents per pound. The staple was fine and had it been well handled would have commanded at least three cents more a pound. This county is well adapted to the culture of tobacco, and it would certainly pay far better than cotton.

We welcome the appearance of the Southern Standard, a weekly journal published in Arkadelphia, by Messrs. Gaulding & Clark, both formerly connected with the Camden Herald. It is filled with readable editorial and selected matter, and promises to be just such a first class journal as the enterprising citizens of Clark have long desired to have in their midst. Success to the Standard.

The Jacksonport Herald says: "We learn that a man by the name of Smith was shot and killed by a man named Chitwood, on last Friday week, at McGuire's store, Oil Trough Bottom, Independence county. Both men were drinking at the time, and fell out about horse racing. Smith was shot three times and expired immediately. Chitwood got on his horse, and unmolested, rode away, although there were fifteen or twenty men present. Both Smith and Chitwood live at the head of the bottom, and Chitwood is regarded as a desperate man. A man by the name of Econ furnished Chitwood with the pistol with which the murder was committed; he has been arrested and sent to Batesville."

A Relenting Prosecutor.

The New London (Connecticut) Star says: "John Beatty, father of General Beatty, just elected to Congress in Ohio, was a soap and candle maker in this city. Many anecdotes are told illustrative of his kind and genial disposition. On one occasion a young fellow countryman in his employ stole a box of candles. He was much provoked, and had him arrested, tried and convicted of the theft. On the trial he testified that the candles were worth four dollars—every penny of it. Thereupon the justice said the value of the property was more than three dollars and thirty-four cents, the punishment, in addition to a fine, must be whipping at the post. The poor boy began to cry. Beatty looked at him for a moment, and the tears came into his eyes also. It was more than he had bargained for. Springing up, he said to the court: 'Please your honor, that was my retail price but as he took of me a whole box, I can afford to call it three dollars and a quarter.' The young Irishman was not whipped."

An unknown man, in a beastly state of intoxication, was taken to the station house in New York on Thursday night by the police, to prevent him from freezing to death; and when examined by the officers more than $34,000 in greenbacks was found on his person.

FRIDAY, : : : FEBRUARY 14, 1868

NEARLY a century ago a writer said, "there are some characters that seem formed by nature to take delight in struggling with opposition, and whose most agreeable hours are passed in storms of their own creating." A striking evidence of this fact has frequently been furnished by the Memphis Bulletin. That paper is always getting up a teapot tempest. It has the happy faculty of finding a mare's nest every day, and cackles over its discovery as vociferously as a young pullet over her first laid egg. In giving birth to its poor little ideas it can grunt and snort and tug and fuss and foam more than the mountain did when it brought forth a mouse. A few weeks since, our neighbor manufactured a large amount of tin-pan thunder about the Memphis and Ohio railroad. In speaking of the management of the road, the enraged editor made his little hebdomidal boil over with wrath. But the President, directors and stockholders at their meeting paid about as much attention to the editor's fustian and fummadiddle as the rear-ing locomotive pays to the little poodle which barks from the door sill of the poor man's cottage. By the way, we would like to know who it is that does the general fixin' up of the editorials in the bastardized Bulletin. It is said they keep an editorial charity box on Second street, into which every scribbler of the city empties his lucubrations, as the congregation of the church pitches into the hats of the elders their dimes. We have no editorials to contribute to this charity box, but as an off-set to the stuff which appeared in the Bulletin yesterday morning, we propose to drop in a rusty nail, a shoe-string, and an old horse-shoe for good luck. The writer is evidently a transcendent genius. He has certainly won our intensest admiration. He scolds the City Council with all the volubility of the enraged dominie, and we presume with about as much damage as the Memphis and Ohio railroad suffered from a similar attack. The committee appointed by the citizens made a report which showed a deplorable ignorance in regard to the charter of the city, and because the Aldermen of the city rejected and ridiculed the absurd propositions of the committee and their ignorance of the city charter, the Bulletin assails the City Council and accuses them of acting in a "discreditable manner." To show that the committee was vulnerable to the ridicule and the severe criticism which the City Council made upon their report, we publish again the following section proposed as an amendment to the city charter:

Sec. — The Mayor and Aldermen shall not hereafter have power to issue scrip, or any note or paper intended to circulate as money, or draw a warrant on the treasury, and any scrip, or circulating medium, or paper intended to circulate as money hereafter issued shall be null and void, and the Mayor and Aldermen or other officer issuing or aiding and abetting in issuing the same shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, be liable to be fined not exceeding five thousand dollars, and imprisoned by any court having jurisdiction, not exceeding three months.

We wish the citizens of Memphis to remember, in reading what we submit to their consideration in the discussion of the questions arising out of the section quoted, that we are not the peculiar champion of the Board of Aldermen, who are able to take care of themselves. Nor are we wedded to any pet plan, which we desire to thrust upon others. We mean to be candid in the expression of our opinions, and can as freely declare as the Committee, that the prosperity of the whole city is the sole object and aim of our labors. We shall discuss that feature of the section above, which makes it a "misdemeanor to issue any note or paper intended to circulate as money." The reasons, or arguments, or motives which the Committee had or have for submitting this most extraordinary amendment, we are ignorant of, as they are not made known in their report. We are certainly of the opinion now that no reason, no argument, no cause could be made or assigned by the Committee which could convince us that this amendment ought ever to form a part of our city charter or our city laws. We are opposed to it. While we condemn it, we are in favor of the Mayor and Board of Aldermen issuing city notes to circulate as money—to be paid out by the city, and received by the city in the payment of taxes. This is a policy adopted by St. Louis and New Orleans, whose city notes circulate at par in the ordinary daily traffic of those cities. We are in favor of the issuance of $15,000 every month for one year, redeemable one year after their issuance in denominations of one, two and three dollars; because we believe the landlords, tenants, merchants, mechanics, brokers, bankers, carpenters, plasterers, market men, and all classes of our citizens would take these city notes as willingly as they now do greenbacks or national bank bills, and at par with them. Because the city notes would be a local circulation of money much needed by the workingmen and retail dealers of the city as well as by the merchants. Because the city notes so issued would be cash to the city government, and restore her present embarrassment. We are opposed to the issuance of any scrip—so is the Board of Aldermen. We are opposed to any increase in the city's indebtedness—so is the Board of Aldermen, and we concur with them in opposing the funding of the debt now due in time bonds. We are in favor of city notes being issued; and we suggest that if the merchants and laboring men of Memphis could be consulted they would indorse and approve our views. All classes of our people have rights and privileges. The committee who have devised a plan to meet our necessities is composed of gentlemen who belong to but one side. He who hears one side of a story hears nothing. Can there be any unanswerable arguments made against the policy of issuing city notes? Is it because they would not be bankable? That would be a good reason why they ought to be in circulation, and we confined their denominations to one, two and three dollars to prevent them from being bought by the banks. It is not necessary that notes to be used as a circulating medium for money should be bankable. For bankable paper is a term or word which has no fixed value other than that of the place where the bank is. In Memphis, before the war, we had the bank bills or notes of other States, to the extent of a quarter of a million of dollars, and which you could not deposit in any of our banks, but which passed current at par in all commercial dealings. These notes were taken by the hotels, saloons, theaters, market men, steamboats, railroads, and answered the place or purpose of money as well or better than coin itself. Now, under the system of national banking we are cut off from all that circulation, and have no other remedy but to use our city notes. The act of Congress regulating the subject—which was made to foster the notes of the National Banks—forbids and prohibits paying over the counter of a bank any notes to be used or intended to be used as money, but the act does not prohibit the banks from taking or receiving it, which they can do as well as take discounted paper of individuals, or the city scrip, of which they now hold perhaps three-fourths.

THE Democratic party meets in Convention to-day. The delegates are requested to assemble at the Greenlaw Opera House at an early hour, as the Convention will organize at eleven o'clock. We are gratified at the general feeling which seems to pervade the party. There seems to be a cheerful and honest desire to harmonize all conflicting interests, and to acquiesce in an honest and earnest support of the nominations. Let us harmonize to-day, and, after the candidates shall have been nominated, let us all declare for them—first, last, all the time—and work, not only with an energy worthy of success, but which will win victory. A good beginning will insure a good ending, and every thing depends upon the concessions and harmony which may be exhibited in the Convention. No ambitious aspirant should be allowed to distract our councils. We must dispose of disorganizers in a short and easy way. Men are nothing, principles everything. The party to which we all belong, and for the success of which we are all struggling, is not made up of satellites that revolve around the orbit of any man, big or little. Hero worship may subserve the purposes of despotism, but it has no recognized place in the American Democratic heart; and should even the most gallant of our leaders—"the noblest Roman of them all"—turn conspirator, and forget his fealty to his party in visions of his own personal promotion, he should be forthwith hurled, like another LUCIFER, to the utmost depths of the political Hades, and be buried there forever under an indignant and undying scorn. In Democracy there is no autocracy; and no Democrat, howsoever foremost in prowess and peerless in counsel he may be, can assume to dictate to the party, and to ask that the mountain shall come to MAHOMET. Let us be just, counsel, compare notes, nominate good men, strong men, and then rally to their support, and frown down the traitors and disorganizers.

THE incorruptible Germans are entitled to something to-day. The silly stories that have been circulated, respecting the Germans having sympathy with the Radicals, have been fabricated and allowed to pass by as the spasmodic efforts of a dying cause to sustain itself a few moments longer. There never has been the slightest foundation for the stupid falsehood that the Germans were turning traitors to their party and their principles. We know them too well—have known them too long—to believe, for a moment, that they were prepared to join hands with the Radicals—the fanatics, the enemies of the Union and the Constitution. We are now prepared to vindicate their fair fame from the malignant aspersions that have been invidiously and industriously circulated by their foes. They are as true as the Irish or any other class of foreigners—and a German should be nominated for office. There is FRED. L. WARNER, a man good and true, a representative man of the German population, whose claims should be considered. Five hundred German votes will be given for the Democratic ticket, and if the party will consult its duty and its interests, some good German will be placed on the Democratic ticket. This much is due to them. It is right, it is fair, it is honest.

IT will be seen from the card below that our popular and efficient Sheriff, P. M. WINTERS, is a candidate before the Convention for the office of Sheriff. With singular unanimity the Democratic party has united on Mr. WINTERS, and his nomination seems to have been a foregone conclusion. He is unquestionably the most popular man in Shelby county, and his nomination will be hailed with exultation. His career as Sheriff has given preeminent satisfaction—met the hearty approval of the people—and he will be unanimously nominated to-day, which will be a high compliment to his popularity, an incentive for him to work for the cause in which his big, honest heart is so fully imbued:

EDITORS AVALANCHE: In obedience to what I am advised is the general desire of the people, I announce myself as a candidate for re-election to the office of Sheriff of Shelby county, subject to the decision of the Democratic Conservative Convention.

P. M. WINTERS.

FROM WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, February 13.

A letter received here from an American citizen, at Beirout, Syria, dated January 2, says General John C. Breckinridge is there, making enquiries in regard to traveling through Syria. He denied any claim to the privilege of a citizen of the United States, and appeared much affected while in conversation upon the affairs in this country. When asked if he intended to remain, said he had no wish to become a martyr, and should not return until he could do so in personal safety, but no other country could be his home. He said, in reference to affairs, that as the war was over, and the appeal to the sword had been decided against those with whom he had been associated, he was willing to shoulder his gun like any other man in defence of his country. He, however, spoke of matters here in the tone of a foreigner. The same letter states that Jacob Thompson and other leading parties of the South during the late war, were under the ban of the Sultan of Turkey.

The United States bonds of 1867 which matured on the 31st of December, will, it is understood, be paid on presentation at the Treasury Department, or at the office of the Assistant Treasurer in New York. Interest being allowed only until the first of January last.

The following telegram was read in the Senate to-day by Mr. Patterson:

MONTGOMERY, February 13.

Hon. F. Patterson, Senator from Tennessee:

The ratification of the Constitution is defeated by over 15,000. What is the prospect for the passage of Sherman's bill respecting Alabama?

(Signed) D. D. DALTON,
Governor's Sec'y.

The army nomination to the Senate to-day was that Lieutenant General Sherman is to be General by brevet.

At a meeting of the Reconstruction Committee, this morning, Mr. Stevens, of Pennsylvania, submitted a resolution to the effect that, it appears from the late correspondence between the President and Grant, that the President had violated, or sought to violate the provisions of the tenure of office bill, and consequently he is guilty of high crimes and misdemeanors, for which he ought to be impeached by the House. The resolution was discussed with much spirit. The point in the debate was whether the President had violated the bill, by an effort to induce Grant to hold the War Department at the disposal of the President, after the Senate, by a resolution, had restored Stanton. Finally the resolution was tabled by the following vote:

Ayes—Buckalew, Dixon, Fessen, Hubbard, Republicans, and Brooks and Beck, Democrats.

Nays—Stevens, Farnsworth and Boutwell.

The President has approved and signed the bill allowing taxation by States of the shares of National banks.

Receipts for customs for the week ending the 8th, $2,178,730. Funds in the Treasury this morning, coin, $102,675,000; currency, $38,038,000.

FROM NEW ORLEANS.

NEW ORLEANS, February 13.

In the convention to-day a resolution was offered that no person shall be eligible to any State or municipal office who has not the qualifications required in a voter for members of this convention, but the Legislature may, by a two-thirds vote, remove such disability. The resolution lies over.

A resolution exempting $1,500 worth of property from seizure on any obligation, after the adoption of the constitution, was referred.

An effort was made to take up the reconsideration of the resolution voting thirty per cent. additional pay to the delegates.

Judge Cooley spoke forcibly in favor of the reconsideration, representing the evil effects such legislation will have upon the masses when voting for ratification, by demonstrating that there is no necessity for this additional pay.

Reagan, who offered the "additional pay" resolution, spoke in defense of it, in a very unparliamentary speech, in the course of which he used many personalities, and was called a liar by Waples.

The reconsideration was lost, by 24 yeas to 40 nays.

A resolution was adopted providing for a Board of Registry, consisting of seven members of the convention, whose duties are to begin as soon as the convention adjourns, who are to have entire control of the elections, so far as not to conflict with the reconstruction acts.

Fortieth Congress---First Session.

SENATE.

WASHINGTON, February 13.

MR. TRUMBULL, from the Judiciary Committee, reported a bill to supply vacancies in the Executive Department, in certain cases, and gave notice that he would call it up at an early day. It provides that in case of the death, resignation or absence by sickness of the head of the Executive Department, or any officer in either, whose appointment is in the head thereof, the President may authorize the head of any other executive department, or other officers, whose appointment is vested in him, with the consent of the Senate, to perform the duties of said offices, until a successor is appointed, or the disability ceases. Provided that no vacancy shall be supplied in this manner for a longer term than thirty days.

The bill to declare the bridges and road of the New Orleans, Mobile and Chattanooga railroad post routes, was passed.

The resolution to admit Mr. Thomas, of Maryland, was taken up. A substitute was offered that he cannot be permitted to take the oath of office, as he required by the Constitution of the United States, inasmuch as he allowed his minor son to leave the parental roof and serve as a rebel soldier, and furnished him with $100 to carry out the purposes of which was said, encouragement and comfort to the rebellion, which he was forbidden to give, and for which, in forbearing to make known to the proper authorities, he is guilty of treason, as defined by an existing law.

Mr. Doolittle presented a memorial signed by one thousand citizens of Alabama, protesting against negro rule, and praying for a continuance of the military government over the State. It sets forth many alleged grievances, and misrepresentations (?) and concludes as follows: "Gentlemen, govern us, if you will do so your own rule by the sword. Send down among us honorable men of your own people, and of the race to which you and we belong, and the intrusion and control of the wise policy and institutions of the country, and, paramount to all will be, no hand will be raised among us to resist by force that authority. But do not, we implore you, abdicate your own rule over us, by transferring us to the blighting, brutalizing and unnatural domination of an alien and inferior race, which has never shown any ability, or capacity for a good government of even the tribes into which it has always been broken up in its native seats, and which in all ages has itself furnished slaves for all races."

HOUSE.

The House considered the bill concerning the rights of American citizens abroad.

Mr. Wilson, of Iowa, moved to refer it to a committee of the whole, which was rejected, and the motion of Mr. Baldwin, to recommit the bill and amendment to the Foreign Committee, was adopted.

Mr. Miller from the Committee on Revolutionary pensions, reported a bill giving a pension of eight dollars per month to every surviving officer and enlisted man who served three months in the military service of the United States in the war of 1812, who was honorably discharged, who during the late rebellion, and not adhered to the cause of the enemy of the Government, who can take the test oath, and who are in straightened circumstances which render them dependent on others for support. During his consideration the morning hour expired, and it went over until Tuesday next.

The last election case of the Second Congressional District of Kentucky on the first resolution reported by the Committee on Election, that Brown was not entitled to the seat, was adopted.

Two other resolutions, covering the claims of Smith & Co., were recommitted.

Mr. Donnelly introduced a bill to regulate the disposal of lands which may be hereafter given to aid in the construction of railroads, which was referred.

The bill gives all such lands to the State, to be sold to actual settlers, at prices varying from $1 to $5 per acre, according to the distance from the railroads; the proceeds to go to the railroads, and if not sold within ten years, then to be disposed of as other public lands. The plan is to encourage settlements on long time, with a view to encourage the settlement of the country. The bill embodies the views of the Committee on Public Lands. The House then adjourned.

On New Year's day, eight thousand Parisian workingmen and their families were turned out of their houses. They were unable to pay their rent.

The New York Tribune makes the late challenges of General Butler in Richmond, by an ex-officer of the United States army and leading Yankee Radical of the Virginia Reconstruction Convention, the text of a long homily on the hatred and wrath that still linger in the unregenerated rebel bosom.

The Camden Herald and Eagle, of the 25th ultimo, says: Henry Wiley, who was indicted for administering chloroform to Nancy Barker, with intent to produce such stupor of mind, and weakness of body as to prevent effectual resistance, with intent to commit a rape, was convicted of the crime, at the present term of the court, and sentenced to be hung on the 14th day of February next. It has been a statute of law of this State ever since 1838, that every person, black or white, convicted of this crime, should "be punished with death." He, who now, after fair trial by jury, and able defense by counsel, is convicted, is a negro who was guilty of the attempt on a white girl. The poor misguided fool must suffer the penalty of his folly, as any other person must do in the commission of such a crime.

REGISTRATION PAPERS ARRIVED.—The registration papers arrived last night, and probably the Register of voters will open his office to-morrow. We implore all our fellow-citizens, who are entitled to certificates, to apply without delay.

FINED.—Catherine Coleman was fined ten dollars for assaulting Mary Phillips, by Esquire Gleason, on yesterday.

AMPUTATED.—Constable W. L. Porter, who was shot some weeks since at his residence, by some unknown parties, had his arm amputated by Dr. Joe E. Lynch. He is in a fair way of recovery.

RECOVERING.—John Cunningham, who was shot by Jack Winters, is rapidly recovering, the wound being pronounced not to be a fatal one by his attending physician.

HOUSE ENTERED.—The house of Dr. McMillan, No. 100 Madison street, was entered on Wednesday night, through the back windows, and several articles carried off. It is supposed that a former servant, lately discharged, was the burglar and thief.

LARCENY.—James Sanover was arrested on yesterday by the police for attempting to steal a mule, the property of C. B. Parker, Esq. The mule was recovered, and upon examination the accused was discharged, the proof not being sufficient to warrant his detention.

John M. Carmack, Esq., of this city, has been admitted and qualified to practice in the United States Circuit and District Courts at Little Rock, so that he is in a position to prosecute claims against bankrupts in Arkansas, and other matters within the jurisdiction of those courts.

THE RAPE CASE—TWO ARRESTS.—Yesterday morning we mentioned that an outrage had been committed upon the person of a French woman on the 7th instant. The police have arrested two negroes charged with being accessories to the foul crime. Their names are Lott Alexander and Tom Smith. They were promptly confined in the Station house, and will have a hearing in a day or two.

PICKET PICKING.—On Tuesday night, while a gentleman was purchasing a ticket at the office of the New Memphis Theater, he felt some one from behind pressing heavily against him. Turning rapidly, he discovered a hand half way in his pocket. The thief, a stylish looking young man, rushed from the Theater, but was captured by the young gentleman, and handed over to the police. He gave his name as Henry Wilson. He will have an examination in a few days.

The following well known gentlemen are at the Bayou House: General F. S. Featherston, Holly Springs, Mississippi; Major Van H. Manning, Holly Springs, Mississippi; Judge J. W. Watson, Holly Springs, Mississippi; Colonel J. M. Scruggs, Holly Springs, Mississippi; Major L. P. Cooper, Hando, Mississippi; Colonel W. T. Bartley, New Orleans; David E. Moore, Huntsville, Alabama; J. W. Polk, Independence, Missouri.

General Negley, United States army, is at the Overton Hotel.

C. P. Atmore, passenger agent, at Louisville, for the Bellefontaine railroad, was in the city yesterday.

A GOOD JOKE ON THE CHANCERY CLERK.—A day or two since there appeared in the legal reports a notice that in a certain cause the Clerk and Master was ordered to loan out money. The order was to loan money to one of the parties to the suit, during the pendancy of the same. Next morning over fifty applicants presented themselves to the Clerk and Master, offering the best of real estate security for the money. They were deeply chagrined when they were informed by the polite official that the rule in chancery practice did not permit the Clerk and Master to do a banking business or be common money broker. After taking one chancery lesson, they departed—sold. Hereafter, when such a notice appears in the legal report, we suggest that it should be understood in a Pickwickian sense. A court of chancery is not the place to borrow money.

DEMOCRATIC RALLY.—A meeting of the Conservative citizens of the Eighth ward was held last night, in a store opposite the market on Poplar street. Mr. Holmes, Vice President of the Eighth Ward Democratic club, occupied the chair. An enthusiastic and stirring speech was delivered by Colonel Monsarrat, Colonel L. J. Dupree, Captain Hitzfeld and other prominent speakers, discussing with ability the political issues of the day. At the conclusion of the meeting a motion was unanimously carried to adjourn until Monday next, at half past seven o'clock, when prominent speakers will be invited to address the meeting.

MATHEMATICAL.—Professor J. D. Andrews, of New York, who is meeting with fine success in teaching our citizens his new and rapid mercantile, mathematical system, consisting of interest, percentage, and short multiplication, and the multiplication of fractional numbers, etc., has instructed us in the same, which, for brevity, simplicity and rapidity of operation, far surpasses any other that we have ever examined, and would be valuable to business men in general. The Professor will remain in the city for some time, and may be found at the Overton Hotel.

ANOTHER SHOOTING AFFAIR.—Between eight and nine o'clock on Tuesday night an affray, which will probably prove fatal to one of the parties concerned, occurred near the corner of Main and Jackson streets. From what we can learn of the unfortunate affair, it seems that Jack Winters became involved in a controversy with Thomas Gorman, which resulted in Gorman knocking Winters down with a slungshot. Winters arose, drew a pistol and fired at Gorman, who retreated. The ignition fired, inflaming Gorman, the ball taking effect on John Cunningham, entering his left side, and inflicting what is deemed a mortal wound. Winters was arrested and taken to the Adams street station house. Cunningham was conveyed home; his attending physician, Dr. Lynch, giving it as his opinion that the wound was mortal.

DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION MEETING.—At a meeting of the citizens of the Seventeenth Civil District, of Shelby county, at McConnell's Chapel, on the 8th day of February, 1868, two delegates to the Convention, to be held at Memphis, on the 26th day of this month, to nominate county officers,

On motion of Captain J. E. Dougitan, J. Massey, Esq., was called to the Chair, and Mr. E. M. Worsham, appointed Secretary.

The object of the meeting being explained,

On motion of M. Stout, Esq., J. Massey and P. G. Rosier were nominated as delegates, and unanimously elected.

Resolved, That the proceedings of this meeting be published in the Conservative papers of the city of Memphis.

On motion, the meeting adjourned.

J. MASSEY, Chairman.

E. M. WORSHAM, Secretary.

EDITORS AVALANCHE: I respond most cordially to the card in your paper yesterday, regarding the present incumbent of the office of TAX Collector.

I have known Mr. Philip Garvin for twenty years, and in all his relations has been uniformly a kind, noble hearted man. He has been Tax Collector for the last two years, and has conducted his official duties in the most exemplary manner. A worthy successor to those faithful predecessors, Potts and Powel, than whom no better ever filled that or any other office.

Mr. Garvin's efficiency, faithfulness and integrity are unimpeachable. His familiarity with this office cannot be improved by any successor; and more than this, it is a rare curse to the body politic, his is deservedly popular, and with his large personal influence will add greatly to the success of the same. If he should be nominated and elected; otherwise the services of a faithful public officer will be a serious loss to our county and the State. Give him a fair chance, and he must be and will be elected. Without any of those illiberal and ungentlemanly modes of address until Monday next, at which time I will proceed to address the people.

Garvin is the man for TAX Collector.

AN OLD MEMPHIAN.

CONVENTION.

RALLY CONSERVATIVE DEMOCRATS.

At twelve o'clock m. to-day, at the Gremlin's Opera Hall, the Conservative Democrats of Shelby county will assemble in convention, to nominate candidates for the various offices to be filled at the ensuing March election. Let all delegates come untrammeled, and let all prejudice or personal partiality be merged into a universal desire and determination to nominate the most available, and at the same time men whose position and past history identified them as active and zealous advocates of the great principles of the Conservative Democratic party.

Beware of new proselytes whose adherence and affiliation dates only with the great and glorious victory achieved in the late municipal election. Remember the men who have battled for the success of the party in its inception and have made it what it is, and let us cast pearls before swine, but reward the faithful for without which no party can prosper or achieve success. Let us have harmony and concert of action, and let each aspirant who fails to receive a nomination not only surrender the field but yield an earnest and faithful support to the nominees. Let there be no conflict because of nationality or locality, but let the foreigner, the native, the city and country forget all else save the good and success of the party. If the strongest and best man hails from the city or from the country, let him receive the nomination, regardless of his immediate locality, so he be tried and true. Be true to your principles, be true to our party, and be true to yourselves, and "there is no such word as fail."

AFFRAY ON COURT STREET.

A Lawyer and a Witness Exchange Several Shots.

During the argument of the case of the State vs. P. R. Peyton in the Circuit Court on Tuesday, Mr. John Hallum, counsel of the defendant, took occasion to comment in severe terms upon the testimony given in the case by Mr. John Cowdin, one of the witnesses for the State. Yesterday morning a bitter personal card from Mr. Cowdin appeared in the papers, denouncing Mr. Hallum in strong terms. The parties met at the north east corner of Court and Second streets about half past twelve o'clock on yesterday, when some words passed and the firing commenced. Several shots were fired by each party, and for a time the firing was bad, neither of the gentlemen being hit. During the morning of yesterday the matter was generally discussed and the meeting predicted and looked for. Such a thing on the public streets should by all means be avoided; by belligerents and conservators of the peace should have put a stop to it, but generally the affair would take place. Innocent persons generally suffer from wild pistol practice on the streets, and if such things cannot be avoided, a trip to Arkansas or the neighboring territory of Mississippi would, in our mind, be a better way of settling a personal difficulty. Both the gentlemen were arrested and required to give bonds to keep the peace for six months. The affair, which amounts to nothing more than shooting within the limits of the corporation, for which the parties will no doubt be fined.

NEW MEMPHIS THEATER.—The grand spectacle called the "Black Crook" was again presented last evening to an overflowing house. The gorgeous spectacle of the ballet and the comedy is still receiving. Nothing like it has ever appeared before upon the boards of the New Memphis. The march of the Amazons was splendidly gotten up, and the effect was bewildering. The dancing by the ladies of the ballet was decidedly good. The last scene called the "Shower of Pearls" is a scene taken from fairy land itself. We bespeak for the "Black Crook" a long run, and one that will put money in the purse of manager Thompson, which he deserves for producing this spectacle as he has done, regardless of expense. The "Black Crook" again to night.

NEW SUBSCRIBERS.—Through the kind appreciation of our friends we are constantly adding long lists of names to our subscription books. Within the last day or two we have enrolled the following new subscribers. We respectfully publish them, to show the estimation in which the AVALANCHE is held by all classes of people. Amongst the number we are gratified to see the names of many Northern men, who have come among us for the true purpose of identifying themselves with us, as good citizens, and not as carpet-bag bummers, seeking office only, and who, after spoils are had, they can gather, by extortion from the hard earnings of an already overtaxed and oppressively burdened people. To such we accord every meed of praise, and may heavily but well they deserve it. To such the AVALANCHE extends the right hand of fellowship; and however severe it may be against the reckless corrupt adventurers, they must never consider themselves included in the list of those it feels itself in duty bound to denounce and condemn.

DICKINSON, WILLIAMS & Co.—We call the attention of the public to the card of these sterling merchants and gentlemen, Dickinson, Williams & Co. The firm is composed of J. W. Dickinson, W. W. Williams and Hon. S. R. Dickinson—their business, that of cotton factors and general commission and produce merchants, at 210 Front street. Mr. W. W. Williams has lately been associated in the firm. The combination can be relied upon by the public as possessing superior business qualifications, and will give general satisfaction to those intrusting business in their hands. See their card in another part of the paper.

EDITORS AVALANCHE: Much is daily said and written in connection with the coming election. Our street corners are crowded with sharp and penetrating delegates prying into available resources. A certain class of men, who lay loose, like Micawber "for something to turn up," and as seasons revolve are ever open for political preferment and the enjoyment of office and its emoluments, familiarly known as "candidates," can be recognized as "the right man in the right place," calls loudly on himself through the papers, and with the same pen modestly accepts, with a supplement that the "head and heart are in the right place." Others, "present incumbents," are lauded for their courtesy, attention to business, popularity and general capacity. This latter class, we are firm in the faith that they are their biographers, and hence should receive the weight of their services. And must men be continued in office because they are courteous or have done their duty? Must an office holder be put in possession of a lecture, or secure an affinity because he has discharged the duties confided to him. A due consideration for the rights of our fellow man ought, in all charity, to influence this class to, ere, a general recognition of the claims of others, and if the position or office has been productive of means, it should be husbanded for future and better purposes than in expending it for securing perpetual positions for themselves, to the exclusion of others, who it would be safe to presume would discharge the office duties with as much "courtesy" and bring to the community as much talent and capacity as the occupant. The wise legislators, the fathers of the Republic, have established a very laudable rule of "rotation in office." This is the great dogma of Democracy—Republican principles, and when the packing of conventions, like that of jurors is resorted to, we must fall back on the original source—the masses. Fellow gentlemen, keep your money in your pockets. It may come useful after awhile.

HAL. PATRICK.

EDITORS AVALANCHE: We would most earnestly urge the claims of Washington Bond as a suitable candidate to be nominated for County Trustee. He is an old citizen, every way qualified, thoroughly identified with the party, and his great popularity would make him a most efficient candidate. If nominated, he will receive the cordial support of the COUNTRY PEOPLE.

BULLY JESSE SPEECH, MAN.

Oh! boys, dear, did you never hear of bully Jimmie Bingham, man,
He's always on the sharp look out for what a chance may bring him, man,
He's dotted my cash, and I don't know how to bring him man,
Again to my side, so I'll sit down and cry.

In distress me greatly to know that I've been sold again,
Knocked down at public auction, though I never hope to gain
A dollar or a dime to plaster on to sooth my pain:
No, no; I'm musing left me bit to sit down and cry.

Ah, well do I remember when our fickle friendship first began;
He puffed me in his paper, and he swore I was the only man
Was fit to rule the city in the good, old, glorious, grabbing plan,
And said I must be Mayor—but that's all in my eye.

And how he purr'd around me, like hungry cat that longs for cream,
And mewed into my actions as the instinct of another species,
From which the leaves and fakes were bound to follow in a stream,
From the city scrip and bonds that we'd all sailed by.

And then wrapped our gospel in cunning "Bully Jesse" shroud,
And took in (my council) democratic plow shaver, Bill;
They told me to croak "Jog," and that my opposition kill,
And make the merry Andrews, before my party.

Now, what could they mean, man, or what have they been driving at?
I've "Jogged it" enough, till I'm sick and tired, and blind as any bat,
Yet the documents—dollies have dropped me up and laid me flat,
To hear their sorrowful laughter, while I can but cry.

Oh, what can I do now, since Jimmie's proved so cruel, man?
Compared with him old Nick himself would be a perfect jewel man,
Though heaping on my gray hairs an extra charge of fuel, man—
For numerous peccadilloes which I've done on the sly.

I've begged, I've repented, and give over all my knowing tricks,
If you'll deal gently with me, and only give me time to fix
A thing or two I've planned, for vengeance on these rotten sticks:
Yes I'll pay my bonds and taxes, and then valiantly—cry,

"OLD TOP."

[Come again, "Old Top," and when out of provender drop in, and you shall have a big chew of the natural leaf.]

Second Ward Meeting.

At a meeting of the Conservative citizens of Second ward, held February 6, 1868, to appoint delegates to the County Convention, to be held on the 14th instant, Messrs. Wm. In the Superior Court, general term, of Cincinnati, before Judges Fox, Stiver and Taft, the following case was argued on appeal:

Brown & Co. vs. Mott & Co.—This case was before the Court on writ of error. The opinion was announced by Judge Stiver.

A package of goods had been purchased by Mott & Co., in New York, and shipped by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, at Philadelphia, consigned to Mott & Co., at Cincinnati, without naming a consignee, and that Brown & Co., without instruction or authority from the owners, forwarded the goods on a steamer, and they were lost. Where that is admitted, it does not follow Brown & Co. are liable, as they were agents of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company.

The judgment of the Court at special term, which was in favor of Mott & Co., is affirmed.

ALABAMA COAL.—We have given the Alabama coal a thorough trial in our store, using it in the stoves, grates and also in the stoves, and we believe it to be equal in every respect to the Pittsburg coal. We hope that arrangements will be made soon to throw large quantities of it on this market, and that it may be the course of another season supplant the Pittsburg coal entirely. It is the duty of Southern men to develop the resources of the South, to build up Southern institutions, and to keep their money here at home. Southern men have patronized the North so long in buying commodities, and furnishing taxation, that they look with distrust upon every Southern enterprise that looks to the advancement of Southern interests. The time is fast coming when we will rely on the North for nothing whatever, but our people may as well now take heed of these "coming events" which "cast their shadows before." This coal can be obtained of Asa Shelton, Cooper Block, Monroe street, and we hope every man in town will proceed in his order and give the coal a fair trial.

FINE BOOTS.—A good fitting boot is a luxury. To obtain such, call on Captain Miller, No. 219 Main street, and you will be pleased with his work. He also keeps ladies' and childrens' shoes of every quality.

THE DOLLARS REWARD.—Strayed or stolen one small bay mare; small star in forehead, short mane, one hind fetlock slightly swollen. The above reward will be paid for her delivery at John C. Hill & Co.'s warehouse, on Court street.

SOMETHING NEW.—That there is something new and inducive to be met with every day, is the truth. Such was the fact when we entered the saloon of Joe Boro (to be known hereafter as Boro's saloon, on Jefferson street. No. 45, under the old Eldorado billiard saloon,) last evening. We found everything that money could make pleasing to the eye on every hand. We certainly can recommend the "Boro" as a place of resort to find the best liquors kept that affords. We are informed on good authority that "Joe" knows what is good and beneficial for every one to take. "Boro's" will be, the place hereafter. Our friend "Boro" will give a free lunch to-morrow that will be the equal of any free lunch ever set before the public. The wise legislators, the fathers of the Republic, have established a very laudable rule of "rotation in office." This is the great dogma of Democracy—Republican principles, and when the packing of conventions, like that of jurors is resorted to, we must fall back on the original source—the masses. Fellow gentlemen, keep your money in your pockets. It may come useful after awhile.

RIVER NEWS.

DAILY AVALANCHE OFFICE,
FRIDAY, February 14.

BUSINESS—WEATHER—RIVERS.

Weather mild and pleasant. The river is falling steadily, with eleven feet on the bars. The Ohio is rising, from Cincinnati down, with six feet in the canal and eight feet on the bars in the lower Ohio. The river is full of heavy, running ice from Cincinnati to Paducah. The river between Cairo and St. Louis continues blocked. While river is receding slowly, with six feet on the bars to Augusta. The Arkansas remains at low tide, with twenty-eight inches on the bars.

ARRIVALS.

Steamer Luminary, Cairo.
St. Patrick, Evansville.
Paulina Carroll, New Orleans.
Indiana, New Orleans.
Natoma, St. Francis river.

DEPARTURES.

Steamer General Quitman, New Orleans.
Luminary, New Orleans.
Paulina Carroll, Cairo.
Indiana, Louisville.

IN PORT.

Steamers Gleaner, Natoma, Des Arc, St. Patrick.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Business on the wharf was fair with several boats in port receiving and discharging.

Tonnage for the Ohio river is scarce, with 4,000 bales of cotton awaiting shipment East.

The General Quitman cleared for New Orleans last evening with a good trip, including 3,800 sacks of corn, 700 bales of cotton and a large list of passengers.

The Luminary passed down yesterday morning for New Orleans.

The Nick Longworth is due from the Ohio.

The Richmond will be down on Saturday.

Navigation in the Ohio is quite precarious on account of the heavy running ice. This mild weather will soon make it disappear.

Among the list of passengers bound South on the Quitman last evening was Mr. C. P. Atmore, the efficient and gentlemanly passenger agent of the Bellefontaine railway line, Captain W. M. Clunkey, and Mr. Wells, clerk of the Florence Traber.

The towboat Bee passed up Wednesday night with a tow of empty barges.

The splendid light draught steamer Gleaner is rapidly filling up for the Arkansas, and will leave promptly to-day at four p.m. for Little Rock and all way points on the Arkansas and Mississippi. She did over for some orders, but will get off this evening. She has superb passenger accommodations, and is the regular United States mail packet Captain Rube Haines commands, with Mr. Patterson in charge of the office.

The Indiana arrived from New Orleans yesterday morning with a fair cargo for the Ohio. She added here 750 bales of cotton, and cleared for Louisville at six p.m.

The Legal Tender is up for New Orleans at five p.m.

The St. Patrick reports the ice quite heavy in the lower Ohio. She passed the Bouncer at Hayne's Bluff building a crib. The ice was gorged at Hogg's Point, and she had hard work to break through it.

The Paulina Carroll passed up yesterday for Cairo, with a full trip.

The Mississippi was to have left Cairo to-day for New Orleans.

The Ohio is rising from Cincinnati to Evansville, with the tributaries pouring in moderately.

The Gold Finch and Rose Hambleton, from this port bound to Cincinnati, with cargoes of cotton, were at Evansville on Tuesday, being undecided whether to reship and turn back, or proceed on their voyage.

The breaking up of the ice at Cincinnati, as we learn from the Commercial, caused much alarm among the boats, damaging the Delaware, Starlight and Bertha. The latter had a number of stationary feathers broken, a portion of the larboard guard crushed in to the hull, and several barrels of oil destroyed, and some of her merchandise damaged. The heavy ice knocked a hole in one of Booth's barges, above the wharf line. It is laden principally with cotton for Parkersburg, and lies below the foot of Main street. The ice crowded the barge down against the corner of the Maysville wharfboats.

The Natoma, in charge of Billy Fields, leaves to-day at five p.m., for St. Francis river. Stack Lee assists Billy in the office.

The Liberty No. 2 is the regular White river mail packet. She will be in port to-day to receive freight.

Almost a tragedy occurred on the Major Anderson Tuesday evening, at Louisville. Mr. McCormack, inventor of the Automatic Fireman, now being placed on the Anderson, was accidentally poisoned by eating a piece of bread and butter covered with arsenic, left in the pantry by the watchman. By prompt application, the poison was counteracted, and he is considered out of danger.

The St. Patrick arrived yesterday morning from Evansville with a full cargo of corn, flour, etc., and was to have returned last night with 1,500 bales of cotton. She gets at Hale's Point 350 bales. She had also a good passenger trip. Mr. Frank Bankemith, a well known Ohio river clerk, has taken charge of the office. Captain Archer and Frank Bankemith are a full team, and will undoubtedly do well with the St. Patrick.

Our friend Dick Appel appeared in a new role last night. Instead of fulfilling his engagement at the Varieties, in a pantomime with Miss Helen DeVere, he made his debut in another part of the city, astride of a billy goat, which was branded C. F. and O. R.

Mr. Frank Smith, an estimable gentleman, who is known on the Mississippi river as one of the most popular stewards, has fitted up a fine set of rooms in New Orleans, for the entertainment of steamboatmen and his many friends. His house is designated "The Hole in the Wall." A fine reading room is attached to the building, where the AVALANCHE, Cincinnati Enquirer, Louisville Courier, and several other papers, will be found on file.

The St. Patrick was unable to get her cotton on board last night, but will leave this morning at 10 a.m. for Cairo and Evansville. She has superior accommodations. Captain J. B. Archer, a popular and competent steamboatman, commands, and Frank Bankemith and Bill Dutton in charge of the office.

The fine packet Gleaner will most positively leave this evening at four o'clock for Helena, Delta, Lacosta, Concordia, Bodark, Napoleon, Pine Bluff, Little Rock and Fort Smith, for freight or passage. See her advertisement.

The Silver Moon will be in port to-morrow from Cincinnati.

The Des Arc lays over at this port until Tuesday next.

The Louisville Courier, of Wednesday, says: The river was rising rather fast yesterday morning, but more slowly in the evening, with five feet five inches water in the canal by the mark at dusk. Since our last report, forty-eight hours, it had risen seventeen inches at the head of the falls, and fully four feet at the foot of the falls, at Portland. The weather was warm Tuesday night and Sunday morning, with steady rains falling, but at noon Sunday the rain turned into a snow storm, the snow falling to the depth of an inch or two, followed by hard freezing weather Sunday night and yesterday. The thermometer all day yesterday was ranging from 25 to 30°, and it was freezing cold at night.

On the falls last evening there were 3½ feet water in the pass down the Indian chute, and rising. The going along the lower Ohio have all broke loose and navigation is fully resumed, with a rapid rise in all the tributaries, and fully twelve feet water out over the Portland bar.

The unequalled Frank Pargond is now nearly completed, and only awaits the tide and her outfit to start South on her first trip. If the river continues to rise she will leave this port on Sunday next for New Orleans. Captain Tobin is determined to go as soon as the falls are navigable for his clipper, as he is anxious to have her at work on the Ouachita. She is the most complete cotton and passenger packet ever built, and her owners and builders think she can't be beat.

MONETARY.

DAILY AVALANCHE OFFICE,
FRIDAY, February 14, 1868.

The money market is working very close, with no apparent ease in the supply. Currency is scarce and the small amount of it in financial circles to move cotton or assist in general trade. The Banks are discounting very little paper, while collections are hard to make and interchants are compelled to pass their notes at long dates. The general feeling in financial circles. On or before the first of March, at which time a large amount of paper will mature and the strength of our Banks will be tested. We trust the crisis is over and hope to see confidence restored in financial and commercial circles.

GOLD—In New York opened at 141¾ and closed at 142¾. The market here was quiet with the premium rates ruling at 139.

SILVER—Quiet and steady; buying at 130@134.

EXCHANGE—Is scarce, buying at par off, and selling at par to ¼c. off.

CITY SCRIP—Dull and quiet, with very little doing in the market. Dealers are offering 60@65, and holding at 65@70.

POLICE SCRIP—Is steady; buying at 45@50, and selling at 55@60.

COUNTY WARRANTS—Are dull and nominal; buying at 40, and selling at 45.

COMMERCIAL.

DAILY AVALANCHE OFFICE,
FRIDAY, February 14, 1868.

Business in commercial circles yesterday was quiet, with a small jobbing trade doing in the general market. The weather was mild and pleasant and the city was thronged with pedestrians. Though there is not much business doing the city presents a lively appearance. Some pork firm with small receipts and limited offerings in market; other articles of provisions dull and stiff. The Silver Moon is due to-day from Cincinnati with large consignments of pork, corn, groceries and western products. We noticed yesterday a large number of planters in the city in search of land and were looking for locations to plant this season on a small scale. The New Orleans Times, of Tuesday, in speaking of cotton, says the advance in cotton in England is due to the decreasing stocks, the ever increasing demand for spinning purposes, and the unprecedented low rates at which manufactured goods have greatly declined the past three months. The opening and extension of railroads in India are adding to an increased demand for British manufacturers. Further, they are also adding largely to the consumption, since it will be very little cotton raised in the United States or the Southern territories. Consequently the staple is more in favor than for many months past. Whether it is premature to say, that if cotton advances above twenty cents, it will not be dangerous for general investment, those deeply concerned can judge. We think, however, that dealers in exchange will be very chary of taking largely of bills based above twenty cents—to which figures we are now approximating—though paper may be given in payment.

Notwithstanding the many predictions that southern cotton or American, was to be deprived of its influence, the recent unanticipated advance in Liverpool, and on the continent, shows views. What effect a crop of only one million of bales in the United States may have, cannot be anticipated at this time.

The railways in India are being extended daily. The most prominent East India railways paid last year 4½ per cent. The following extract from the London money market review shows what effect the Indian railroads will influence the consumption of cotton goods, as well as facilitating the production of the new article to an unlimited extent. The recent advance in the value of the staple will encourage the planting in India from all advices we have received. There will be a large breadth of ground planted for cotton in India the next season than ever before.

While the British government is extending aid and sending practical engineers of millions of pounds sterling in hard money, the United States government—the so called Congress of Southern States—have repudiated one hundred and fifty millions of acres of swamp lands or sand tracks, worth on an average fifty cents to one dollar per acre, and some not worth the trouble of entering, and under a kind of pretence the United States government pro

NEW YORK, February 13.—Richards' paraffine works, in Brooklyn, exploded last night. James Brough was burned to death, and two other men seriously if not fatally injured.

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., February 13.—The charter election for town electors, Broome county and this city, took place to-day. Jabez F. Rice (Democrat) was elected mayor of Binghampton city by 155 majority. The vote on the other city candidates was more evenly divided.

OGDENSBURG, N. Y., February 13.—The Herald's special states that the election in Ogdensburg resulted in a Democratic majority of seventy—a gain of over 300 since the last election

ERWIN, February 13.—The World's special says that this town has just elected A. J. Fox, (Democrat,) Supervisor. This town gave Fenton fifty majority in 1866. In 1867, Nelson, Democratic candidate for Secretary of State, received fifteen majority—a gain of sixty-five in one year in a total vote of 387, and now Supervisor Fox is elected by twenty-five majority—a gain of ten more.

MONTGOMERY, February 13.—A special says there is a plan on foot here to secure one-half of the registered votes to carry the Constitution. The real majority against it is about twenty thousand. Yesterday orders were given to re-open the polls in five counties for five days.

The President of the Convention is in the city, and it is understood to be his purpose to issue certificates upon the ratification of the new Constitution and the election of candidates running under it.

The Governor issued a circular this morning exhorting the people to pay their taxes, in order to uphold the State and keep up State institutions.

NEW YORK, February 13.—A Washington special says that no official dispatch has been received from Hancock, tendering his resignation.

A Times' special says that Thad. Stevens has prepared a strong report recommending the preferment of articles of impeachment by the House, which he says he is determined to push through the committee. At a meeting to-day one of the Democratic members of the committee expressed the opinion that Mr. Stevens' report would be agreed to.

HAVANA, February 12.—Advices from Manzanilla state that a severe drought is retarding the tobacco growth. The probabilities are the crop will be half short.

Ristori has recived a letter from the Emperor of Brazil offering a free passage for herself and troupe to Rio Janeiro, and also to use the Imperial Theater in that capital.

BEAST BUTLER AT DICKENS' READING.

Dickens Hits Him a Center Shot.

"Mark," the Washington correspondent of the Cincinnati Commercial, describing a scene at the Dickens reading at the capital, says an incident worth mentioning occurred at Carroll Hall on the second night of the Dickens readings. Ben. Butler entered after the performance had commenced, and walked down the center aisle while Dickens was describing one of the most interesting scenes in his selections from David Copperfield. Perhaps Benjamin was unavoidably detained, or perhaps he wished to make his appearance at a time when he could attract that amount of attention which he thinks is due to his eminent abilities and great public services. There are those who adopt this as one of the ways of keeping before the people; some of them men of learned and religious affairs, who never enter the church till the congregation is well seated, and then walk straight to the front pew. If General Butler hadn't his mind's eye on this idea on the occasion referred to, his motives were misunderstood by many, that's all.

Well, the hero of Bermuda walked down the aisle the observed of all observers, and took his seat in a very select and advantageous part of the hall. The first selection was soon concluded, and Mr. Dickens retired, as is his wont, for ten minutes of rest and refreshment. The rustle and bustle consequent upon a relaxation of attention followed. There were whisperings among the older folks, and flirtings among the younger, in the midst of which up rose Butler from his seat, either to observe or be observed, hard to tell which, though I incline to the latter belief. There was no mistaking that bald head, of that strabismic eye. It was Benjamin F. Butler and nobody else.

The intermission, like all things on this earth, had its end, Dickens reappeared and the readings were resumed. This time it was a selection from Pickwick—the famous Bob Sawyer party scene. It was very funny, as we all know, and the laughing was at times immoderate. There was a point, however, at which the laugh became very much like a vulgar roar, and it wasn't the funniest part of the reading by any means. Mr. Dickens felt a little confused, I thought, for a man of his nice perceptions knows exactly where the fun comes in, and we all know there is such a thing possible as a laugh at the expense of an actor, which is always more vivid than that provoked by the play. Dickens evidently thought he had blundered. But he hadn't. He had simply read the following colloquy between Hopkins and Noddy—and the audience had just been Butler, and every one knew he was present.

"I request that you favor me with your card, sir."

"I'll do nothing of the kind, sir."

"Why not, sir?"

"Because you'll stick it up over your chimney-piece, and delude your visitors into the false belief that a gentleman has been to see you, sir."

"Sir, a friend of mine shall wait on you in the morning."

"Sir, I am very much obliged to you for the caution; and I'll leave particular directions with the servant to look up the spoons!"

The laugh, Mr. Dickens, which so exceeded all bounds as to perplex you, was due solely to a connection in the popular mind between General Butler and spoons!

The Aberdeen (Mississippi) Examiner says that the negro majority by which the Constitutional Convention was elected is rapidly leaving Mississippi. Every train of cars bearing the State for Alabama and Tennessee, and every steamer passing up the river bears away many of these founders of new governments.

The King and Queen of Portugal and their suite, while returning from a hunting party, near Praza, were fired upon from the roadside. The guards returned the fire, killing some of the assailants and wounding others. The royal party then rode rapidly into town. The King and Queen were unhurt.

The loan o' the Government of Prussia for the construction of railways is for a total equal to $8,000,000, bearing interest at the rate of 4½ per cent. per annum. The roads are intended for Eastern Prussia, where the prevailing destitution is aggravated by the lack of suitable communications, and giving employment will afford immediate relief.
